Foreword

April 2023

The past few years have been challenging for everyone working in pharmacy, and in health and social care. Pharmacies experienced high and sustained demands and pressures during another busy winter. Our joint communication with PSNI and Chief Pharmaceutical Officers issued in December recognised the critical role of pharmacy professionals and teams in supporting the NHS and social care services at this time. We know their contribution has made a major difference to the communities they serve.

We have been keeping our regulatory processes under review to ensure we support pharmacies during these challenging times to provide safe and effective care. In response to ongoing winter pressures, we extended the timeframe of our sample of routine inspections to spread these out over a longer period and made adjustments to allow more flexibility for pharmacies to respond to our inspection reports

Strengthening pharmacy governance

This year saw the introduction of new legislative orders that will give us powers to set professional standards for Responsible Pharmacists, Superintendent Pharmacists and Chief Pharmacists. The Pharmacy (Preparation and Dispensing Errors – Hospital and Other Pharmacy Services) Order 2022 and the Pharmacy (Responsible Pharmacists, Superintendent Pharmacists etc.) Order 2022 came into force in December 2022.

These orders will enable us to take forward important work to strengthen pharmacy governance. We have now embarked on a programme of engagement with patients and the public, health professionals, the NHS and the wider health sector, to discuss the requirements and expectations around these roles. After this round of engagement, we will draft rules and professional standards for these roles and move into full public consultations.

Delivering our strategic aims

Following the publication of our strategy and action plan, Delivering equality, improving diversity and fostering inclusion: our strategy for change, this year we developed, consulted on and have now published new equality guidance for pharmacies.

The equality guidance will support pharmacy owners to meet their legal and regulatory duties in relation to equality, including making sure that no one is unlawfully discriminated against including staff and patients. This guidance will equip pharmacy teams with the knowledge and confidence to help tackle discrimination, as well as providing practical advice that can be applied in everyday work.

Looking ahead

As we begin the fourth year of this five-year strategic plan, we know the sector will continue to evolve with the challenges and changes ahead. This includes:

- the growth of online pharmacies and services, ensuring people can access medicine safely online
- pharmacy professionals and pharmacies playing a much greater role in providing clinical care and providing a wider range of clinical services, including independent prescribing
- the effects of new technologies and advances in science on medicines and clinical care
- patients and the public having high expectations of evolving 'person-centred' care

We anticipate further integration of health and social care, which is likely to see pharmacists and pharmacy technicians working in a wider variety of settings as part of multi-professional clinical teams.

We will also continue to further develop and implement our new ways of working, and to put in place improved structures, systems and processes. This will help us to work flexibly and to successfully achieve our aims.

What we do

We have an important part to play in making sure people receive safe and effective care when using pharmacy services, and have trust in pharmacy.

We:

- promote professionalism within pharmacy
- help make sure pharmacy professionals have the appropriate knowledge, attitudes and behaviours
- assure the quality of pharmacy, including its safety
- support the improvement of pharmacy

We have a number of ways in which we do this.

These include:

- registering and listing publicly the pharmacy professionals and pharmacies that provide care to patients and the public
- setting and promoting the standards needed to enter and stay on our register
- receiving assurances, in a number of ways, that pharmacy professionals and pharmacies continue to uphold our standards – and acting appropriately when they do not
- sharing with others what we learn through our work
- investigating concerns about the people or pharmacies we register and taking proportionate action to protect the public and promote our standards

Our strategic plan

Our strategic plan for the years 2020-25 marks the start of our journey towards delivering our ambitious Vision 2030, for 'safe and effective pharmacy care at the heart of healthier communities'.

To make major progress in delivering our vision over the five years to 2025, we will focus on achieving the five strategic aims set out below. These are to:

1. Deliver an adaptable standards framework that meets public and professional needs that are changing quickly.
2. Deliver effective, consistent and fair regulation.
3. Drive improvements in pharmacy care by modernising how we regulate education and training.
4. Shift the balance towards more anticipatory, proportionate and tailored approaches to regulating pharmacy.
5. Enhance our capabilities and infrastructure to deliver our vision.

Each aim is supported by a short narrative for explanatory purposes, the key programmes of work we will be focussing on, along with some high-level examples of success.

Our strategic aims

1. Deliver an adaptable standards framework that meets public and professional needs that are changing quickly

Having an up-to-date and relevant standards framework and supporting guidance – for professionals and pharmacies – will allow us to regulate flexibly, proportionately and effectively. The standards and guidance will help professionals deliver a broader range of clinical services, working in a variety of settings and within different models of service delivery. These service models will incorporate more and more use of advanced technology.

To achieve this aim over the remaining two years of this strategic plan, our key programmes of work will focus on:

1. Developing new regulatory standards for updated roles in medicines legislation.
2. Making sure our core standards and supporting guidance meet the changing needs of the public and professionals.
3. Reviewing what we register, the basis of registration and the information we collect and use at registration and renewal.

We will know we are successful if:

- pharmacy governance has been strengthened with rules and standards for chief pharmacists, superintendent pharmacists and responsible pharmacists
- our regulatory standards framework reflects the main issues needed for the safe and effective practice of pharmacy
- standards expected are understood by patients and the public, professionals and pharmacy owners
- professional responsibilities and accountabilities are clear and evidenced by feedback and through inspections, and the concerns that are raised

2. Deliver effective, consistent and fair regulation

As a good-quality regulator, all our services will be performing consistently well. We will understand what difference our regulatory approaches and activities are making to patient safety and the continuous improvement in the quality of pharmacy practice in all settings. We will also be making sure the way we regulate is grounded in equality and diversity, and a good understanding of the systems and cultures professionals and the communities they serve are based in. This includes being more proactive and using all of our regulatory levers and influence to help tackle discrimination and reduce health inequalities. It's also about equipping pharmacy teams to tackle discrimination and health inequalities, using our standards and guidance to help them do that.

To achieve this aim over the remaining two years of this strategic plan, our programmes of work will focus on:

1. Meeting all the standards of good regulation.
2. Reporting broadly on our regulatory and service performance.
3. Regulating fairly and taking action against discrimination

We will know we are successful if:

- we are consistently meeting all 18 standards of good regulation set by the Professional Standards Authority
- we are reporting on the productivity, efficiency and effectiveness of our services and organisational performance
- we understand the impact of our regulatory approaches and use this to improve the quality of pharmacy practice
- we can effectively assess the safety and quality of the broad range of pharmacy care
- we are using all our regulatory levers and influence to support and – when necessary – to drive positive change in pharmacy, tackling discrimination and making sure everyone can access person-centred care, fostering equality of health outcomes

We aim to make sure that all aspects of how we regulate the education and training of pharmacy professionals, and their ongoing learning and development, are up to date and working effectively together. Through this we will be better able to support the shaping of confident and capable professionals that can meet patients' needs now and in the future.

To achieve this aim over the remaining two years of this strategic plan, our programmes of work will focus on:

1. Refreshing standards for the initial education and training of pharmacists and pharmacy technicians.
2. Developing our role in the post-registration assurance and practice of pharmacy professionals.
3. Implementing a tailored and intelligence-led approach to accrediting and quality assuring initial education and training providers.
4. Updating the delivery, content and timing of the registration assessment for pharmacists.
5. Enabling the efficient registration of overseas pharmacy professionals, considering Brexit.

We will know we are successful if:

- employers tell us that newly qualified pharmacy professionals have the skills needed
- there is effective assurance of post-registration practice
- education providers meet our refreshed standards, with pharmacists having the necessary knowledge and skills to independently prescribe at the point of registration
- our registration assessment is delivered online in a network of test centres across the UK and tests the necessary knowledge and skills of a 'day-one' pharmacist
- there is a fair and proportionate assessment for all overseas nationals reflecting the changes created by Brexit

4. Shift the balance towards more anticipatory, proportionate and tailored approaches to regulating pharmacy

We will be focusing more and more of our regulatory efforts on getting ahead of issues before they happen or become a bigger issue. We will be using data, intelligence and insights to help us do that. We will also use them to guide our decision-making so that we are increasingly tailoring our regulatory responses, to make the most impact. As a result, our responses will be based more around the context and issues we are dealing with, rather than the way we are structured. This approach will also include engaging and working with others and communicating more directly with the public as well as with pharmacy.

To achieve this aim over the remaining two years of this strategic plan, our programmes of work will focus on:

1. Practising an approach to how we regulate that is increasingly informed by intelligence.
2. Delivering the implementation plan for our strategy for managing concerns about pharmacy professionals.
3. Starting to explore what a more strategic approach to regulating pharmacy could look like
4. Building the views of patients and the public into our work and raising the public's awareness and understanding of the standards they should expect from pharmacy.

We will know we are successful if:

- we are identifying issues that apply generally across pharmacy and are acting on them
- we make key regulatory datasets available to the pharmacy sector on our website
- our regulatory responses are increasingly tailored and co-ordinated based on the issues and context that apply
- our approach to managing concerns about pharmacy professionals is fair, inclusive and free from discrimination and bias, and encourages openness, learning and improvement in pharmacy
- we are in a better position to start developing a more strategic approach to regulating the quality of registered pharmacies
- we are working in partnership with patients and the public to co-produce our standards, guidance and policies, and are informing patients and the public about the standards they can expect when using pharmacy services

5. Enhance our capabilities and infrastructure to deliver our vision

To successfully achieve our vision and to regulate efficiently, it is important we have the right foundations in place. This includes having the right people, and the right culture and ways of working. To be successful we will be supported by the right technology and be in a financially stable and sustainable position.

To achieve this aim over the remaining two years of this strategic plan, our programmes of work will focus on:

1. Improving customers' experience of our services.
2. Making sure we are organised for success.
3. Improving our IT infrastructure to support us in delivering our vision.
4. Establishing a sustainable and fair financial position.

We will know we are successful if:

- all our services for pharmacist and pharmacy technician registrants are available online, and we are consistently meeting customer service standards
- the organisation is led effectively, and we have improved structures, systems and processes to allow us to change with the times and deliver value for money
- we are operating more flexibly and from a smaller headquarters with a lower carbon footprint in line with our wider climate change strategy towards net zero
- we have the capability, skills and knowledge to work in partnership and collaboration with the public, pharmacy professions and other stakeholders to support the delivery of safe and effective patient care
- we are in a financially stable and sustainable position, funded appropriately and fairly by those we regulate

Given the fast pace of change, and the significant implications of a health and social care system including pharmacy under pressure, we will keep the plan and our aims under regular review. This will make sure we can adapt quickly to any changes in priorities that may arise.

Our strategic approach

The strategic aims we have set ourselves and the level of ambition we have committed to mean we will need to be able to adapt quickly to the fast-changing environment around us. We will need to use intelligence more and be anticipatory in our approach to the way we regulate, to make sure we are proportionate and effective.

It is important that in doing so, we keep our key operating principles at the centre of the way we work. These are to:

Promote professionalism

We believe the professional knowledge, attitudes and behaviours of the people working in pharmacy offer the best assurance to people using pharmacy services. Our most effective role is in helping to promote an environment in which professionalism can flourish, and making sure that the standards expected of pharmacy reflect this.

Be person-centred

At the heart of everything we do is the recognition that everyone is an individual and has differing needs which we must understand and take account of in our work. This applies to everyone – including people using pharmacy services, people working in pharmacy, people working in the wider health and care sector and people in our own organisation.

Focus on outcomes

We will continue to focus on the outcomes we want to achieve on behalf of the people using pharmacy services. This will mean we can give the people working in pharmacy the flexibility to innovate and adapt in a way that improves quality.

Promote learning and improvement

We will work to continuously improve the quality of pharmacy. We will collect information from our work, and the work of others, so that we can share learning and promote improvement. And we will make sure that we also improve ourselves and work in the most efficient and effective ways.

Collaborate

We are one part of a wider system that makes sure people receive safe and effective care from pharmacy and ensures that public trust in pharmacy is maintained. If we are to be successful, we must work alongside the people using pharmacy, the leaders of pharmacy, other regulators, and the wider health and care sector.

Recognise the contribution of the whole pharmacy team

People receive safe and effective care when the skills, knowledge and contributions of everyone in the pharmacy team are used to their best effect. We will work in a way that recognises the whole pharmacy team's role in quality and improvement.

This strategy is our commitment to work with the people using pharmacy services, people working in pharmacy, and others, to improve the health, safety and wellbeing of people in Great Britain.
