Job title: Assistant Professor in Pharmacy Practice, University of Bradford; PCN Clinical Pharmacist (Independent Prescriber), South & East Leeds GP Group; Extended Access Pharmacist; Placement Lead, The Medicines Management Team

Arshad Patel is an Assistant Professor in Pharmacy Practice at the University of Bradford. He also serves as a PCN Clinical Pharmacist (Independent Prescriber) with the South & East Leeds GP Group. Arshad graduated with first-class honours from the University of Bradford in 2021, completing a sandwich course. His pre-registration training took place at the Mid Yorkshire Hospitals Trust and Imaan Healthcare, where he gained valuable experience in community, hospital, and general practice settings.

In addition to his teaching responsibilities, Arshad is the Placement Lead at The Medicines Management Team, where he develops and delivers primary care placements for students from various healthcare backgrounds. Following his pre-registration training, he worked as a Rotational Pharmacist at the Mid Yorkshire Hospitals Trust before joining the South & East Leeds GP Group. He also works as an Extended Access Pharmacist, assisting General Practices with out-of-hours services.

Prior to his current academic position, Arshad spent a year as a Practice Education Facilitator for the Lancashire and South Cumbria Training Hub, where he played a key role in developing undergraduate pharmacy placements within primary care.
