

Accreditation and Recognition panel member

Name: Hannah Poulton

Team member

Job title: Non-Executive Director, Independent Panel Member and Fractional Chief Marketing Officer

Hannah Poulton had a career of more than 20 years working in financial services, much of it in senior roles, where she developed an interest in governance and professional regulation that has led her to leave the corporate world and develop a portfolio of roles in this area. Hannah is a Non-Executive Director of the Welsh Cycling Union, which includes being the lead for equality, diversity and inclusion (EDI) and serves as a Lay Chair on the professional conduct committee for the General Chiropractic Council and the joint disciplinary panel for the Intellectual Property Regulation Board. She is an Independent Panel Member on the Police Misconduct Panel for Hampshire and the Isle of Wight Police and Crime Commissioner and she is also a reserve deputy chair for the General Pharmaceutical Council's Fitness to Practice Committee.

She volunteers as a Justice of the Peace, previously on the Cardiff Bench and now in West Hampshire, and as an event fundraiser for her local hospice. Hannah also works with a range of commercial and not-for-profit organisations as a Fractional Chief Marketing Officer and enjoys coaching and mentoring others to develop their skills and confidence.
