Name: Sheetal Jogia

Team member

Job title: London Pharmacy Aseptic Workforce Transformation Project Lead, Royal Marsden Hospital NHS Foundation Trust

Sheetal has been practising as a Pharmacy Technician for over 30 years with 20 years within Education and Training. She is currently leading on a project for London aseptic services where she is looking into the challenges and barriers for recruitment and retention within this specialist area of pharmacy.

Sheetal also champions Equality, diversity and Inclusion within her area of work by ensuring there is equal opportunities during recruitment and equity for career progression for all staff.

Sheetal has been an Educational Programme Director for Pre-registration Trainee Pharmacy Technicians and lead for support staff training in her previous role. Mentoring learners, seeing them achieving their goals and progressing in their career within Pharmacy has been a very satisfying experience for her.

With a passion for education and training, Sheetal continues to contribute towards the quality of training programmes accredited by our regulatory body, a role she thoroughly enjoys.
